

YES

TO ORGAN DONATION

Irelan Bailey's Story

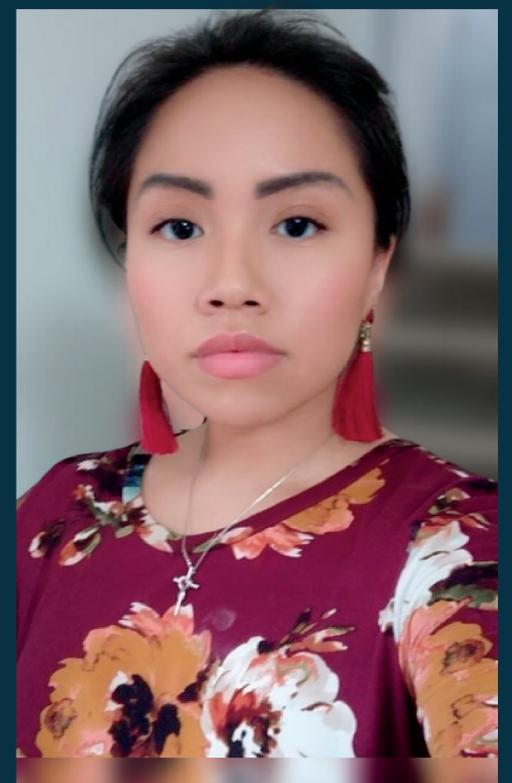

Irelan was a friend to all – from childhood to adulthood she greeted everyone she knew with love and acceptance. The impact Irelan has left on her friends, family, and everyone who was lucky enough to know her is immeasurable. She was always the funniest person in the room and had the smile to match. Irelan gave her all to everything : sports, school, dance, playing instruments, and most importantly, life.

Irelan's passing was unexpected and heartbreaking for our family, but she made one thing abundantly clear: She had chosen to give the gift of life through organ donation. In both life and death Irelan was selfless and so it was a no-brainer to make sure we kept her spirit going through the gift of donation.

The morning of Irelan's service we received the call that all of her donations had been matched to recipients. Although it was heartbreaking to deal with such a devastating loss, there is a profound sense of joy knowing that Irelan was saving lives and improving the lives of others. They now have the opportunity to keep her memory alive with us.

No one wants to think about someone's last day, but today you can make the decision to say "YES" to donation. Saying "yes" can save a life. Saying "YES" was the best gift we could have given someone else. We are so proud of Irelan.

The 20 years of life full of love and laughter was the best gift she could have ever given us.
